7.6 Plan Your Race with Gretel

Gretel Planner is a free race planning tool. The official 100KM, 60KM and 21KM courses are loaded on Gretel with their aid stations, distances and elevation profiles, so you can build your pacing and nutrition plan on the actual course.

The TGC 100KM course on Gretel Planner (103 km, 6,682 m D+).

Create your Gretel account

1. Go to app.gretelplanner.com and sign up for a free athlete account.
2. Open List of races and select The Great Cordillera 100, then your category.
3. Set your average pace or target time for each segment between aid stations. Gretel shows the distance, climb and terrain of each segment, plus warnings such as DNF pick-up points and support crew access.
4. Add your food, drinks and gels to each segment. Aim for 250-300 kcal per hour.
5. Press Save, then Export to print your plan or keep it on your phone. Share a copy with your support crew.

> Check the time zone
> Gretel may show the gun start in another time zone. The 100KM start appears as 13 November, 16:00, which is 11:00 PM Philippine time. All times in this handbook are Philippine time (UTC+8).

Sample plan: 100KM in 30 hours

This is an example of a Gretel plan for a runner finishing in about 30 hours, a mid-pack to back-of-pack pace with about 2 hours to spare at the finish. It allows 8 minutes at each aid station, 3 minutes at water stations and 20 minutes at the drop bag station. Use it as a starting point and build your own plan in Gretel.

17.3 Planning Your Crew Day

- Ask your runner for a target time at each crew point, and a slow-day time. Plan around the slow-day time.
- Crewable aid stations have designated parking with marshals on hand.
- Roads to the Itogon crew points are narrow mountain roads, some unlit. Drive in daylight where possible and allow extra travel time.
- Mobile signal is weak in Dalupirip and parts of Ampucao. Agree on your plan in advance. Do not count on calls or live tracking.
- A spectator shuttle to Santa Fe leaves the Race Village at 8:00 AM on Saturday, November 14, subject to final confirmation. Fare: PHP 500. The shuttle returns from Santa Fe after 2 hours. Time your trip around your runner's expected arrival, as there may not be a ride back.

18

Support Crew Zone Rules

1. Stay within 50 meters of the aid station while supporting your runner, unless staff tell you otherwise. Do not enter the aid station tables or the timing area.
2. Do not take food or drinks from the aid station tables, even if they are for your runner. The runners themselves are the only ones permitted to take items from aid stations.
3. Do not run, walk or ride with your runner outside the crew zone. Pacing is only allowed in the final 3 km of the 100KM, from Happy Hollow.
4. Do not follow your runner by vehicle along the course. Bicycles and e-mountain bikes may be used to reach crew aid stations, but not for pacing or on any part of the course.
5. Drive slowly and follow speed limits. Many access roads are narrow and winding.
6. Your runner must check in at the aid station before and after meeting you, and leave before the cut-off time. Crew time counts toward the cut-off.
7. Park only where marshals or parking staff direct you. Do not block traffic, trail access, aid stations or other vehicles. Badly parked vehicles may be towed at the owner's expense.
8. No littering at aid stations, on the course or at the finish. Take all your trash back to Baguio.
9. No smoking at aid stations or on the course.
10. Keep noise to a minimum, especially in the villages at night. Noise violations may lead to the runner's disqualification.
11. Help runners who have no crew where and when you can.
12. Follow all instructions from marshals and aid station staff.
13. A crew that breaks these rules may cause a penalty for their runner. Unauthorized assistance is a 30-minute penalty.

- Watch for signs of trouble: confusion, shivering, slurred speech, very low food intake, or not passing urine. Tell the aid station medic.
- Do not pressure a runner to continue or to stop. If the runner is unsure, ask the aid station medic to check them.
- Check the time. Make sure the runner leaves before the cut-off.

If Your Runner Withdraws (DNF)

1. The runner must surrender the bib to the aid station captain so the withdrawal is recorded. Do not extract your runner from the course without informing the aid station. Should they decide to withdraw, race organizers must first be informed.
2. If you are at that crew point, you may drive your runner back to the Race Village. Tell the aid station staff before leaving.
3. If you are not at that point, aid station staff will arrange transport from the nearest DNF pick-up point, at the runner's expense.

- Medical staff are at the finish. Stay with your runner for a while after they finish, as runners can feel unwell once they stop moving.
